

You Are There

Brad Gooch's first book of poems was The Daily News (Z Press). He was born January 31, 1952 in Kingston, Pennsylvania and has spent the last several years living in New York City. He has been a successful international fashion model, a member of Christian semimonastic community, and a porno movie critic and roving reporter for New York Native.

"Hello, I'm Johnny Cash"

Tom Clark has twenty-five books to his credit. They include poetry (When Things Get Tough on Easy Street: Selected Poems), fiction (Who Is Sylvia?), biography (No Big Deal: The Mark Rydich Biography), and social criticism (The Great Naropa Poetry Wars). He was Poetry Editor of the Paris Review during its seminal period in the late Sixties and early Seventies. He is forty years old and lives in Santa Barbara, California.

Distinguishing Marks